The Dangers of Carbon Monoxide

accumulates in the blood, suffocation occurs. Mild CO poisoning often appears like the flu, but more serious poisoning can lead to difficulty breathing and even death. Victims exposed to high levels of CO can become seriously ill or die in less than 15 minutes.

Carbon Monoxide (CO) is a silent killer. Carbon monoxide is an invisible, odorless and tasteless gas created when fossil fuels, such as gasoline, wood, coal, propane, oil and methane, do not burn completely. Improperly maintained heating and cooking equipment are possible sources of carbon monoxide in the home. Vehicles running in an attached garage can also produce dangerous levels of carbon monoxide.

Carbon monoxide replaces oxygen in the bloodstream. As more and more CO leading cause of accidental poisoning deaths in America. Yet, many people do not know they are suffering from CO poisoning until it's too late. That's why a carbon monoxide detector is an excellent way to protect your family. It can detect the CO you cannot see, smell or taste in the air.
